

Dear parents/carers,

We have an exciting new PSHE curriculum being rolled out across the school ahead of the new statutory guidelines set out by the new curriculum.

We would like to bring to your attention the lesson objectives we will be using with our classes over the next half term. They will be mainly discussion based lessons around the topic of relationships, specifically families and looking at how all families are different. Here are the main objectives being covered:

- Identify the qualities of positive family relationships
- Explain how friends and family show they value and care for each other.
- Describe what is most important in a family relationship.
- Recognise family relationships may change for different reasons and how to manage this.
- To recognise and respect that there are different types of family structure (including single parents, same-sex parents, step-parents, blended families, foster parents); that families of all types can give family members love, security and stability.

If you have any further questions or any issues we should be aware of surrounding this topic, please don't hesitate to contact your child's class teacher.
