What to do today

IMPORTANT Parent or Carer – Read this page with your child and check that you are happy with what they have to do and any weblinks or use of internet.

1. Read a poem

- Look at the Caged Bird picture. Why do you think someone might keep a bird in a cage like that? What does it make you think?
- Read Caged Bird First Verses. Read them twice: once in your head, once out loud. Each verse is just one sentence, so read so that it flows to the end.

2. Decide some Secret Strings

- Look at Example Secret Strings. Secret Strings are a way of showing how a word or phrase in a poem links with another word or phrase. You just spot a link and then use colours and highlights to show it.
- Read Caged Birds Other Verses. Try adding secret strings. Any link that you can spot between words or phrases is OK.

Well done! Show your Secret Strings to a grown-up and explain the links that you have spotted. They can read Secret Strings Adult Reference to understand them or watch Michael Rosen explain them (he invented the idea).

3. Answer some questions

• Read Reflection Questions. Think about your answers and then write them as sentences.

Try the Fun-Time Extras

- Make an illustration of the free bird, showing all it can do.
- Try learning some of the poem off-by-heart.

Caged Bird

Caged Bird – First Verses

A free bird leaps on the back of the wind and floats downstream till the current ends and dips his wing in the orange sun rays and dares to claim the sky.

But a bird that stalks down his narrow cage can seldom see through his bars of rage his wings are clipped and his feet are tied so he opens his throat to sing.

> Maya Angelou, The Complete Collected Poems of Maya Angelou Virago, 1995

SECRET STRINGS EXAMPLE Caged Bird – First Stanza

A free bird leaps on the back of the wind and floats downstream till the current ends and dips his wing in the orange suncays and dares to claim the sky.

- Wind and wing echoing words (they sound similar)
- Free bird leaps contrasting assonance
- sun rays dares sky alliteration (letter 's' at start and end)
- leaps/dares strong verbs
- wind, stream, sun, sky nouns to do with the natural world
- Floats downstream contrasting assonance

Secret Strings: Adult Reference

Secret Strings is a way of thinking about poems explained by Michael Rosen in his book: What is Poetry? (2016 Walker Books).

He explains them as the way that poems bring words together.

They can include:

- Words sounding like one another (for example rhyme, alliteration or assonance)
- One line's rhythm echoing that of another
- Words or groups of words repeating
- Word pictures made by the similar or the same words being used (The picture or imagery of the poem)
- Opposites

Importantly, Michael Rosen says this:

"Remember, these strings belong to you. They may be strings that the poet had in mind – but maybe not."

In Caged Bird example, these Secret Strings have been marked:

- Free bird leaps contrasting assonance
- Wind and wing echoing words (they sound similar)
- Floats downstream contrasting assonance
- sun rays dares sky alliteration
- leaps/dares strong verbs
- wind, stream, sun, sky nouns to do with the natural world

Caged Bird – Further Verses

The caged bird sings with a fearful trill of things unknown but longed for still and his tune is heard on the distant hill for the caged bird sings of freedom.

The free bird thinks of another breeze and the trade winds soft through the sighing trees and the fat worms waiting on a dawn bright lawn and he names the sky his own

But a caged bird stands on the grave of dreams his shadow shouts on a nightmare scream his wings are clipped and his feet are tied so he opens his throat to sing.

The caged bird sings with a fearful trill of things unknown but longed for still and his tune is heard on the distant hill for the caged bird sings of freedom.
