

Become a MathMagician!

How about a little maths trick that you could try on some people at home? It involves addition, subtraction, multiplication and division.

Think of a number

Double it

Add a number of your choice (10, for example!)

Half it

Take away the number you first thought of

The answer is 5.

The answer will always be half of the number you add at step three above!

If you want to be really clever write down the number on a piece of paper before you begin – everyone will think you are a mind reader!

Good luck!
