

English ideas for the next three days.

Writing a biography.

Day 1: Research someone of interest using the internet.

This can be a pop star, politician, sportsperson, actor, author – anyone famous who you think has led an interesting life or is someone you admire.

(In school we have researched Freddie Mercury and used the information we have found out to write a biography.)

Day 2: Plan your paragraphs. Remember each one will be about a different focus – introduction, early life, rise to fame etc. Draft your sentences remembering all the things we learnt in class about.

- Starting sentences with subordinating conjunctions (Although, Even though, Rather, Since etc.)
- Using a colon before items in a list.
- Starting a sentence with an adverb.
- Using noun phrases to improve your description.
- Starting a sentence with an ...ing verb.

Day 3: Present your work neatly using your best handwriting and pictures. This can be a fact page or a written account or even a PowerPoint if you prefer.
